

aisha

These are your lines
These are the rules
The taller ones don't play like fools
Don't choose the cards
Don't roll the dice
And with your flame you'll
Melt the ice

I never claimed that im the one
That has to be there when it's done
To stain the paper with my penn
Eternely to play the game

There was a dream
There was a sighn
With in 20 years I chose to run
I set my horses to the mist
And slept in the belly of the beast

In blood and golden wrings
Aishe

In drearms you reappear
Aisha

You dwell with in my tears
Aisha

• I wish and pray every night that i can have it all for you
Aisha

We fled from the wars and there was war again
And in the fireascape lanes
I called your name
Tore myself to the stairway to heaven
From the great big vines
And in the judgment day hall of shame I heard these lines